ABOUT US

Neal Jones Furniture is the culmination of the knowledge and experience of designers, makers and project managers with over 50 years' collective industry expertise.

Neal Jones has been at the helm of his own furniture design business for the past 18 years, developing an extensive portfolio across land and sea.

Since inception, we have built a bridge between the world's leading interior and exterior designers, architects and shipyards, and an army of over 400 artisans. This network of furniture makers, specialist finishers and leather workers exemplify our talented offering, providing a variety of production solutions to meet budgets and demand.

We're also really proud of the fact that we support manufacturers and artists right here in the UK. The UK has a very long history of quality craftspeople and manufacturing, and we hope to help keep it that way for long into the future.

Since inception, Neal Jones has collaborated with a collection of the most revered interior designers in Britain, including March & White and Candy & Candy. Our Interior portfolio represents over a decade of meaningful partnerships with the very best in marine and residential design, including collections for Nuvolari Lenard and Lürssen Yachts. These partnerships have placed Neal Jones in the upper echelons of luxury furniture design.

It's all in the detail

Through the experience of our technical design, manufacture and project management teams, we can add a great deal of value to marine projects. We champion perfection in every piece created by our design team, managed by our project teams and made and delivered by our artisans.

INTRODUCTION

Over the past twenty-five years, it has been my privilege to work on some of the most diverse and spectacular marine and residential developments in the world. The opportunity to work on your project would be an honour. Having worked on marine developments in excess of 130 pieces of yacht furniture, my team is well equipped to deliver large-scale projects.

This Semi-Custom collection was born out of a customer desire for the quality that they have come to expect from us, but to a reduced timescale. This range combines top design with plenty of options to tailor to your own aesthetic needs, without the need for a long design period. It's a range I am really proud of - and I am sure you're going to love it too.

I hope that this brochure reflects our commitment to delivering the finest quality furniture at the best value, backed with unrivalled expertise and the ability to quickly expand capacity to meet demand.

PROJECT MANAGEMENT

Project Plan - A comprehensive project plan lies at the core of the Neal Jones Furniture service. The project managers (all furniture specialists) constantly refer to this plan, checking progress with the workshops. Progress is recorded by photograph, video and site visits and evidence is regularly shared with the client.

Cost Management - Placing significant orders with small companies is often considered risky. Neal Jones Furniture mitigate this risk by a) carrying out their own financial due diligence and b) by managing the payment schedule to effectively guarantee the financial viability of the workshop through the project.

Quality Control - Progress is regularly inspected by our furniture specialists to ensure that specifications are being followed correctly and implemented to the most demanding quality standards.

Client Inspection and Delivery - Although the various pieces that make up a project can be made in workshops from across the UK, on completion they will all be brought to a central location, be that our studio or one of our workshops to facilitate easy client inspection. All furniture is carefully packed in robust casing and delivered using 'white gloves'.

Fit for Purpose - Particularly important for marine and exterior furniture, our design process carefully considers the environmental conditions to ensure that the furniture is sufficiently protected. Other key criteria can concern weight or regulatory compliance (such as the reg-b requirements for marine furniture).

Neal Jones Furniture has been one of our preferred furniture manufacturers in both high-end residential and yachting projects we undertake. Our working relationship spans 15 years + in which they respect the confidentiality of each project and provide us with an outstanding service. Their attention to detail, craftsmanship, co-operative and professionalism at every stage in taking our design intent through to final finished article, ensuring our brief is met but most of all our client's vision is realised.

The quality and longevity of the articles produced by Neal Jones Furniture have lived up to the standard we expect. Their aftercare and maintenance service is always on hand should we require this.

We have no hesitation in recommending Neal Jones Furniture to any prospective client or design studio.

Neal Jones Furnitures combination of achieving a high quality finish and their proactive approach to design and craftsmanship, particularly in bespoke products and settings are key reasons we continue to work together.

We very much looking forward to continuing to work with Neal Jones furniture on future projects.

James White | Co Founder, March & White

We are also working with Neal Jones Furniture on a large existing project where they are in the process of making some interior furniture pieces [after working previously on exterior marine projects]. So far, their efficiency in the design and workshop drawing process has been excellent and we are very much looking forward to our continuous collaboration with them and to seeing the finished product."

Naomi Tobin | Reymond Langton Design

They delivered to us quality, bespoke furniture on time and on budget without disappointment. I look forward to working with them again.

Sean Moran | Managing Director, Moran Yachts

"When we design something, we believe we have already achieved the result. We are wrong. We need someone to build what we have designed. Neal Jones is a professional who understands and executes precisely what we have in mind".

HUMIDORS

The absolute must-have piece of furniture for any cigar lover, to keep your cigars in perfect condition. When stored correctly in a humidor, your cigars will be moist and flavoursome and, over time, will develop and mature.

A Neal Jones Humidor is not just a practical piece of furniture – it's a statement too, to sit in pride of place in your office, dining room or drawing room.

From small boxes to fully installed cabinets, our humidors are designed from the ground up to fit your space and style, and only the finest materials are chosen to create a piece that is as luxurious as the cigars inside.

Please contact us for more details on fully bespoke humidors.

UPHOLSTERY

There are as many types and designs of upholstery and soft furnishings as there are ideas, and the right fabric choice can really make your pieces shine, stand-out or fit in - whatever your style.

As well as their aesthetic look, the right upholstery and fabric is an absolute must for practical purposes too. This could mean fabric designed to withstand UV, heavier fabric for more robust pieces, wipe-down material for homes with children and pets, and so on.

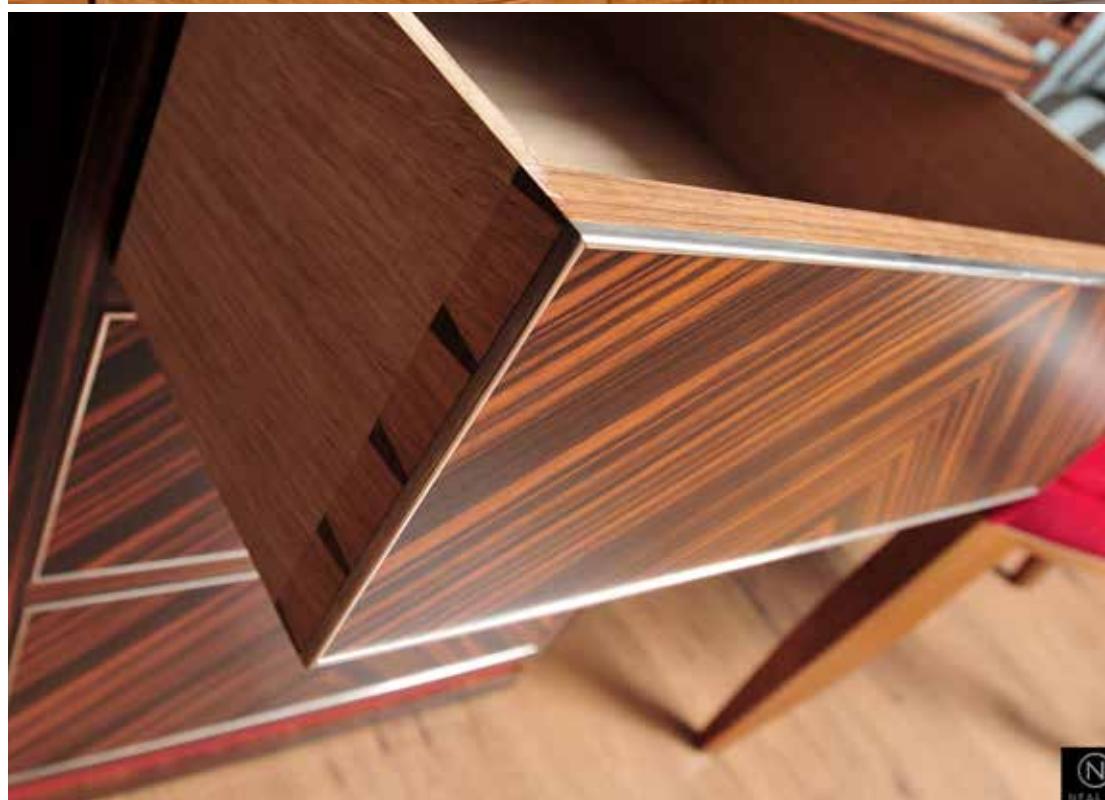

All our upholstery is hand picked to ensure consistent quality, and is handmade in the UK to exacting specifications by master upholsterers.

Upholstery is where your imagination can run wild - be that in natural choices, print, patterns, stitching, weaves or embellishments.

WOODWORK

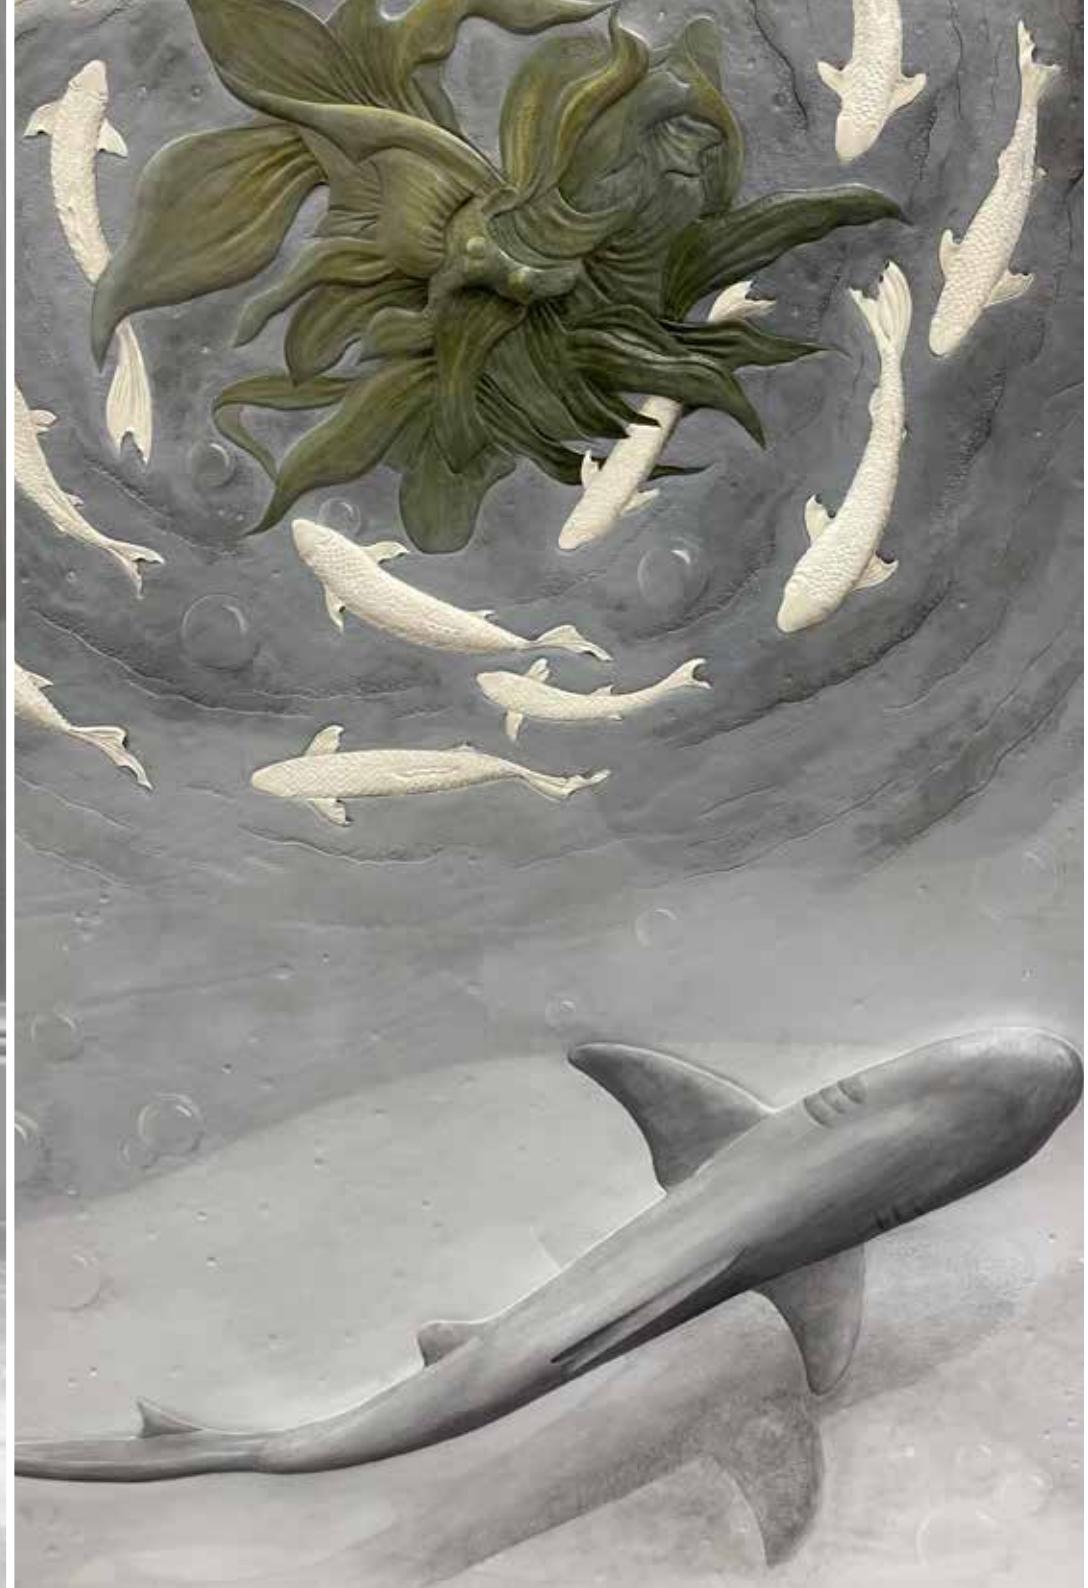

Wood is the ultimate in natural crafting materials, and has been worked and perfected for millennia.

We use a mixture of solid woods, premium man-made boards and high-quality veneers to achieve the practicality and the aesthetic you require.

From natural grain to marquetry and inlays, wood is one of the most flexible materials available to achieve your designed look and feel.

Indeed, good wood gives a beautiful feel to your luxury piece of furniture, and we carefully hand select each piece of wood to ensure that it's as warm and inviting to the touch as it is on the eye.

Wood is a key material in achieving sustainability too, being a renewable resource.

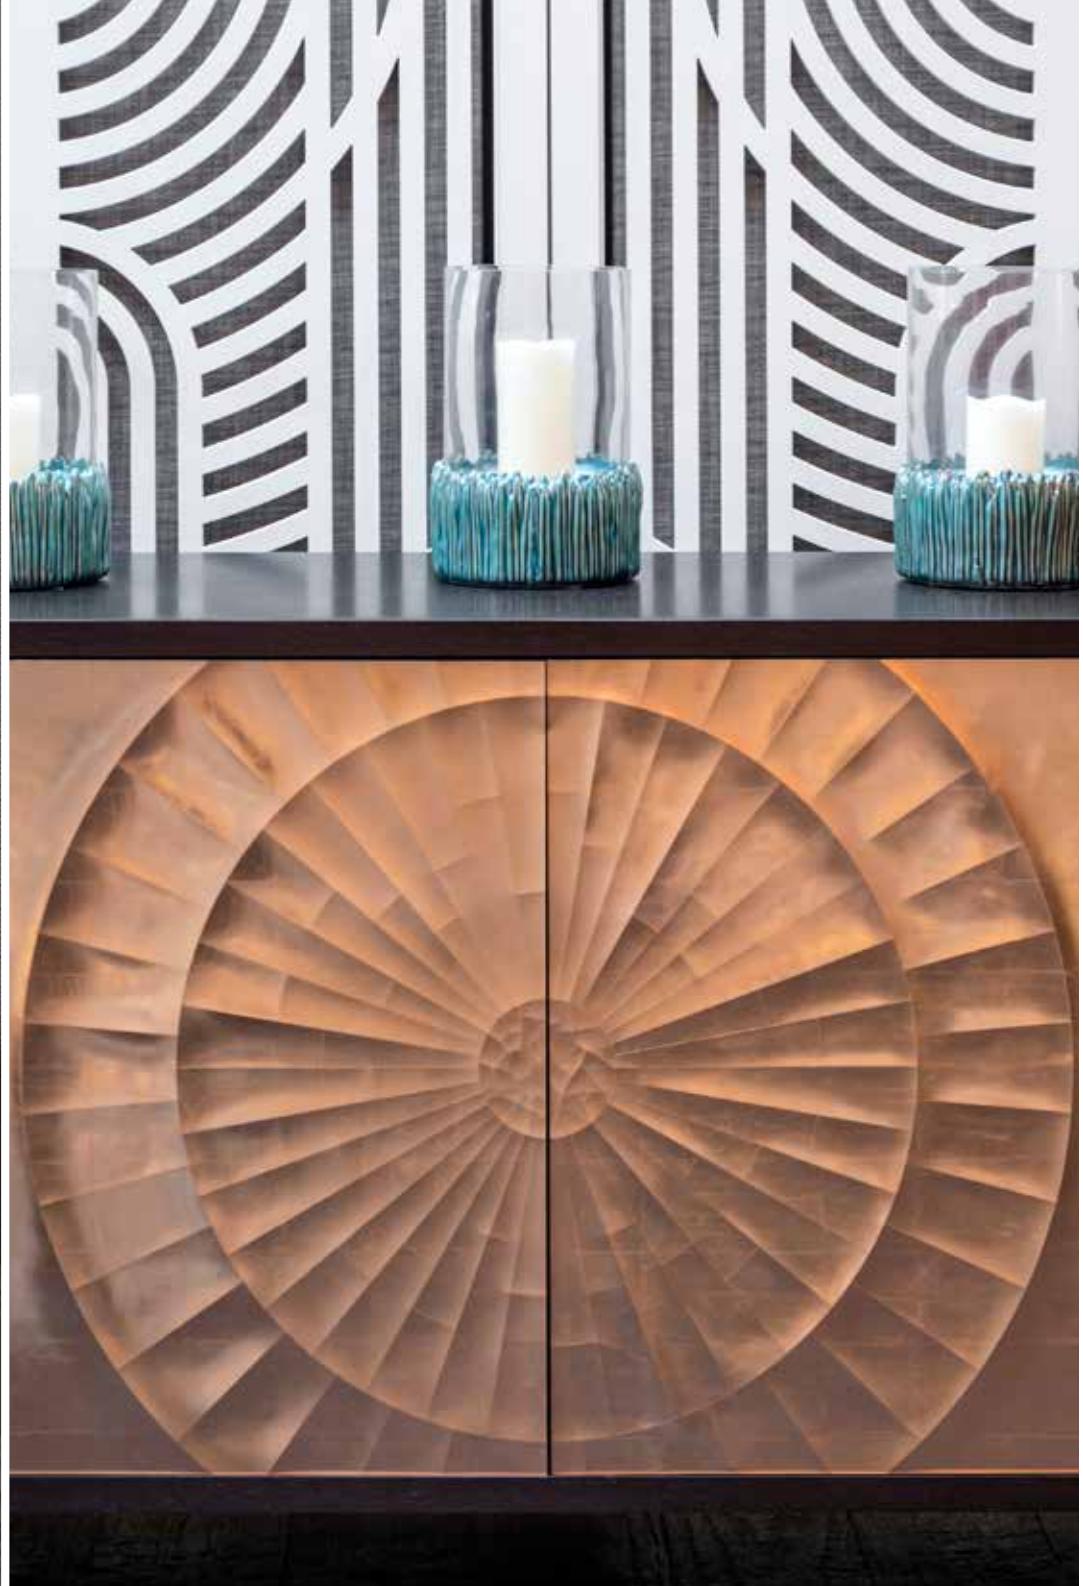

ART OF LEATHER

Leatherwork is an ancient and specialist craft. Our network of leatherworkers have honed their skills over decades, striving for the very best quality artwork. We celebrate their talent and believe the key to any lasting project is the injection of passion and creativity.

Featured across our interior portfolio are leatherworks that adorn furniture, walls and doors, celebrating the spaces in and between rooms. All of our leatherwork is fully bespoke and is made with only the finest hides, resulting in an artwork that captivates an audience and celebrates the rich history of leather artisans and furniture makers.

Leather is a natural material, and this makes a leatherwork piece even more unique to you. No two hides are ever the same, and while we ensure that they are the highest quality and consistency available, natural variation in the skins and finish mean your piece really is truly unique to you, and luxurious beyond.

METALWORK

Metalwork is the perfect way to elevate any piece of furniture. It can be used for the smallest and most delicate piece of detail, right up to bold, structural pieces.

Metal accepts a wide range of finishes too, from bright and shiny, to worked, to powder finish for a luxurious, matte quality. Metal is also perfect for standing the test of time - with careful selection of metal and alloy, something can look the same for decades, or age, patina, oxidise or degrade beautifully to give an ever-evolving piece that will change with you.

We use only the best master blacksmiths, silversmiths and craftspeople, who not only can craft the perfect piece, but have decades of knowledge of the most suitable metals and finishes to use for your item, to ensure a long life at the highest quality possible.

THE PERFECT FINISH

From embossed leather to liquid metal, our network of over 30 finishing workshops produces the highest quality furniture finishes available to the bespoke market. Featured extensively throughout our portfolio, our range of finishes are a natural talking point for each piece they adorn.

Every inch of your new piece is considered, down to the types of hinges that best suit the item, the handles, the gloss or matt quality of the finish.

Sampling is an integral component of every project. We realise that our clients want to see, feel and touch our finishes to ensure that it is right for the space. That is why we take extra care in providing control samples during a project's development. Ensuring finishes are of the highest standard means we are delivering to design specifications as well as producing works of art.

Bespoke furniture that has been meticulously designed and expertly crafted deserves to be cared for. Neal Jones Furniture are proud to offer a range of aftercare and maintenance packages tailored to the specific requirements of every client. These dedicated service packages have been specifically designed to preserve both the quality and longevity of your furniture.

Our furniture will be outstanding when delivered – that's our Neal Jones guarantee of excellence – but we think it is just as important that it retains that impact over the years to come. Sadly, accidents happen, and furniture does get damaged. Throughout the design process, we try to anticipate such potential damage and plan how it can be repaired.

We are a service-driven company. To us, customer service means a great deal more than filling out a questionnaire at the end of a project. We recognise that our customer is like us, an important link in a chain providing service to the ultimate client purchaser. We see this chain as a 'partnership of service' and are committed to supporting our client in every way possible. Our aftercare packages reflect that commitment.

AFTERCARE & MAINTENANCE

Prior to our visit to any yacht in Europe, we will conduct a conference call with the principle crew member to gain a pre-visit report of each item. This will help us to understand the current state of the furniture, and if there are any additional treatments or requirements that we could look to carry out additionally during our visit.

Once on-board, we will carefully clean and buff all items of furniture, paying attention to the different materials involved, resulting in a rejuvenated finish.

We will also provide a full assessment of each item of furniture, highlighting any damage or repairs that we would recommend. We would discuss this with the principal crew member, provide a quotation and arrange a follow-on visit.

We include a spare set of upholstered seats and backs as well as spare marine fabric. We also have in stock a range of hardware and fixings which can be sent out at very short notice for any emergencies.

Throughout the term of the care package there will be a dedicated telephone and email support to fulfill any repair or maintenance needs.

Particularly important for marine and exterior furniture, our design, production and aftercare processes carefully consider marine environmental conditions to ensure that your furniture is sufficiently protected against the elements.

For more information, or to request a quotation, please contact melissa@nealjonesfurniture.com. Terms and Conditions apply.

MADE IN THE UK BY MASTER CRAFTSPEOPLE

At Neal Jones Furniture, we are proud to say that our furniture is manufactured in the UK. The UK has a very long and illustrious history of master craftspeople, and we aim to ensure this continues well into the future.

Manufacturing in the UK has multiple benefits - it allows us to work closely with all our workshops meaning our Project Managers can get up close and personal to the products at every stage of the journey.

It also means no costly shipping back and forth across the planet - helping to keep costs for the client down, and helps our planet too. Where we can, we use locally sourced materials too, to keep our carbon footprint to a minimum, and to support the full supply chain in the UK.

LUXURY MARINE FURNITURE

In addition to creating beautiful luxurious furniture for on dry land, Neal Jones Furniture is renowned for designing and crafting the very best in marine superyacht furniture.

We have worked with some of the world's best and well-known yacht designers and shipyards to create stunning marine pieces, suitable for the harsh environment on the waves. We have a wide range of semi-custom pieces that are perfect for all yachts, or we have a fully bespoke design service too.
